Description:

This is where we type a bunch of information at the bottom of a document that basically no one will read. We assume that everyone will read this dribble, but it is so boring that they cannot get through it. And yet, our attorney's say that this has to be included on every document. Oh well! Here it is: We are not responsible for anything that goes wrong with your stuff. If you have a complaint, take it to someone who can help you. We reserve the right to know what we are responsible for, but we don't have to tell anyone what that is.
